

C5 INTERVENTION PROGRAM

Overview

C5, which stands for Core Five, is a cognitive-based intervention program developed by Collaborative Learning Solutions to specifically target students showing lagging skill development, disabilities, trauma, or any combination of the three causing severe behavior and/or emotional concerns. The program is designed as an alternative to sending students to non-district programs, such as non-public schools or residential treatment centers, allowing the district to have quality control and assuring students receive equitable education.

The purpose of our C5 intervention program is to support students with long-term growth and expand their cognitive skill development, which fosters more equitable outcomes and positive societal contributions.

The program's core five components are:

1. Authentic Relationship Development
2. Rigorous Skill Development
3. Cognitive Collaboration
4. Targeted Growth
5. Equitable Systems Improvement

Key Benefits

Highly positive, collaborative, and cognitive approach versus the traditional punitive approach for students.

Major cost savings by decreasing a school district's reliance on costly non-public schools and residential treatment centers, saving thousands of dollars.

Improves test score, grades, and attendance.

Helps districts support and sustain their own students and intervention programs.

Increased utilization of research-based strategies.

How We Can Help

Collaborative Learning Solutions is committed to supporting sustainable and equitable system change utilizing various types of support with our C5 Intervention Program.
